CARROLL.

Tina will celebrate the glorious Fourth.

The infant child of Fred Whitten of Norborne died Friday.

Richard, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jamison of Hale, died Tuesday.

Benedict Klopenstein of Norborne died Friday. He was born in Ohio and was 79 years of old.

The lightning burned about 1,000 feet of wire on the Midland telephone line in Coloma Friday.

Rev. T. S. Watt, formerly of Norborne, died at his home in Centralia Tuesday after a three-weeks' illness.

Carroll county is clamoring for a new county infirmary. The old poor-house is a dilapidated, out-of-date building.

The "gallon house" at Norborne has passed into history. The town council made provision to tax it $100 a year and it was closed.

The little son of Wm. Lauck of Bosworth was run over by a horse Friday and received injuries from which he died a few hours later.

Tom Orchard's "colt" ran away Friday and threw him out of the buggy. The buggy was badly broken up, but Mr. Orchard was not injured.

Harvey Erwin and Mart Clayton of Carrollton engaged in a heated argument Friday morning that ended in a pitched battle. Neither was hurt.

"Uncle" Jerry Clemens, long a resident of Carroll county, but a native of Pennsylvania, died at his home, north of Norborne, Saturday. He was aged 87 years.

Mat Allen, col., of Carrollton missed his son Tuesday night and was out hunting him. He had left the house in his night clothes and crawled up into the hay mow in his sleep.

Joseph Duane, one of Norborne's best citizens, was killed Monday by a Santa Fe freight train. Mr. Duane carried a water jug and hoe with him when he was struck. He was born in Ireland and came to this country in 1885.

As Ern Miller of Little Compton was driving home Tuesday night a gang of men came tearing up behind him, frightening his horses so they ran away. One of the horses was killed by running against a piece of timber on a bridge.

Two ladies in Carrollton started to enter their house Thursday night when they heard a hoarse whisper. "Is that you, pal?" it said. The ladies in question screamed and slammed the door. The house was searched, but no one was found.

Harry Marshall, a negro of Carrollton, was arrested Sunday on a warrant sworn out by Ed Elliott who claims that Marshall came into his (Elliott's) restaurant with a shot-gun and tried to raise a rough house.

Tuesday while C. E. Harper, a barber in Carrollton, had gone to his dinner some one came in and stole all of his goods and tools. Ors Finney, the colored porter, was there all the time, but saw no one. He was arrested on suspicion.

MARRIAGES.

Ted Whiteman of Carrollton and Miss Woods of Sibley.

Luther Sanders and Miss Sophronia McVay, both of near Carrollton.

Chas. E. Hawkins of Tecumseh and Miss Nora M. Gladwill of Hale.

Perhaps never before in the history of Macon county has such a demonstration of public approval occurred as that which greeted the jury's verdict in the Albright case Thursday morning. T. Edward Albright was acquitted of the charge of boodling.

A GOOD MIRROR

Shows your face just like it is. It does not remove the dirt or trim your whiskers. A good abstract shows your title just as it is. It does not cure the defects in it. But we take your abstract and perfect the title so that it is clear and good. We make a specialty of title correction.
